“ I'm truly heartbroken to hear of Dickies passing. He was my first love. Someone that I always will love. His son said he'd light up a room and I agree I can say the worlds definitely a bit dimmer without him in it. Rest In Peace "Dickie" Richard Lee VanHorn. You will always be in my heart and the heart of many. So tonight I finally pulled out the photo albums and found some of my pictures with Dickie (yes I called him Dickie 😊)

Took some pictures of them for his sister and I am making copies for her. I pulled them out of the album gently and to my pleasant surprise found a note he wrote on one. We had gone to knotts berry farm and got married. (It was a thing they did with a horseshoe nail ring) so he gave me a promise ring that night. I have that still. He kept the marriage license. His sister Cindy came up with an amazing idea for that ring and maybe she will mention it at his celebration of life. All I can say now is my hearts broken for all those that loved him. Yes young love a powerful love and first love is someone you never forget. I was lucky to of found such a good guy as my first love. Thank you for all the good times, the constant laughing ,great sense of humor & loving me.

“ if we could turn back time i would turn it back to when 212th St. was full of kids..boys & girls playing hide n' seek in the street, in each others yards and houses, going roller skating, playing and wading in that horrible pool at Bloomfield park scraping our knees lol... i feel blessed to have had such a great childhood that included my friend Dickie... he in later years showed up at my parents house before they moved to MO. i answered the door and to my surprise there he was! .. we talked for a bit and he told me he now went by Rich. .. just this past summer my sister and i drove to Laughlin to visit my cousin and found out Rich was doing work at one of the local casinos ... we met up with him and reacquainted ourselves once again .. i wish we had more time .. time is so precious and you never realize how precious it is until its run out. Rest in Peace Rich.. you are missed here on earth.
